The Indian rupee is likely to edge higher against the dollar after weak U.S. jobs data increased the probability of a Federal Reserve interest rate cut. - NewsRise

Indian government bonds are likely to rise today as a weaker-than-expected U.S. jobs report has boosted the case for monetary easing by the Federal Reserve. The yield on the benchmark 7.26% bond maturing in 2029 is likely to trade in a range of 6.65%-7.00% today. - NewsRise

Wall Street's major indexes charged higher on Friday, as sharply slowing U.S. job growth boosted hopes for Federal Reserve interest rate cuts while optimism about potential progress in U.S. trade fights with China and Mexico added to risk appetites.

U.S. stock futures and Asian shares rose after the United States dropped its threat to impose tariffs on Mexico in a deal to combat illegal migration from Central America, and as weak U.S. jobs data raised hopes for U.S. interest rate cuts.

The Mexican peso jumped against the dollar early in Asia after the United States and Mexico struck a migration deal late last week to avert a tariff war, providing much-needed relief to fragile market sentiment.

U.S. Treasury yields tumbled on Friday, with 10-year yields hitting their lowest since September 2017 as domestic employers hired far fewer workers than expected in May, raising bets the Federal Reserve would lower interest rates.

Oil prices rose after Saudi Arabia said producer club OPEC and Russia were likely to keep withholding supplies, and in relief that the United States and Mexico averted a trade war that would have damaged the global economy.

Gold retreated from a 14-month peak after an agreement late last week between the United States and Mexico to avert a tariff war crimped safe-haven demand for the metal.
